Hi Dan,

The Attorney General recently issued guidance that California law prohibits California police agencies from sharing ALPR data with law enforcement agencies outside of our state or federal agencies.

My advice would be that we follow the Attorney General's guidance and deny outside requests for the time being.

The letter from Jones Mayer does make some good arguments that the guidance interprets the law too narrowly and it is possible the guidance may be reconsidered in the future or the law may be challenged.

The letter does agree with the guidance that we are not allowed to share data with federal law enforcement agencies so as to your specific question below we would not share that information under either the current guidance or the interpretation urged by Jones Mayer.

Jeffrey / Heather –

I'm not sure who this inquiry should be sent to, regarding sharing ALPR data with out of state agencies. It doesn't happen often, but we do receive requests periodically, sometimes from the FBI. A notable FBI request involved an out of state kidnapping case. Please see attached documents.

When we receive requests from out of state agencies, or the FBI, for ALPR data, how should we respond?

Thank you,

Dan

Attached is new information bulletin regarding sharing ALPR data. It is relevant to PRA requests. Worth the read if you are tasked with sharing ALPR information.

CPCA Response to AG ALPR Data Sharing Bulletin

11/27/23

Our legal counsel, Jim Touchstone with Jones & Mayer, sent a letter, attached here, to Attorney General Rob Bonta and Chief John Marsh with the Division of Law Enforcement last week on behalf of Cal Chiefs, State Sheriffs and CPOA in response to DOJ's Information Bulletin on Automated License Plate Reader Data. DOJ's bulletin spelled out state law governing the use of ALPR data as per SB 34. However, legal counsel for the three associations disagrees with the section of the guidance to the extent it suggests that ALPR data cannot be shared with out-of-state law enforcement agencies for legitimate law enforcement purposes and requests that DOJ to re-visit their position on this critical issue. We believe that the proper sharing of such information under these conditions is consistent with the language of the statute, the legislative intent, and sound public policy designed to assist in the apprehension and prosecution of child abductors, narcotics traffickers, extremist hate groups, and other cross-state criminal enterprises.

This is a major issue and we wanted you to be aware that we have been and will continue to work on it.
